Student Body Out En Masse; Greets Team

The student body, college band, cheerleaders, Wampoo, and the Indians were on hand Sunday to welcome the football team home after their 8-0 victory over Dartmouth Saturday.

After a half hour delay, during which Richmond Road was blocked by throngs of students and the band held a jam session, the team's special bus arrived. With the band leading the way, the crowd of students, which had gathered near the Catholic Church joined in a parade to Blow Gym.

The cheerleaders led the student body in cheers as the members of the team left the bus. Coach Carl Voyles made a short speech ex-

Phi Beta Kappa of William and Mary To Initiate Nine from Class of 1942

Alpha Chapter Announces Autumn Nominations To Famous Honor Society

Alpha of Virginia, mother chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, today formally announces nine members-elect from the Class of 1942.

They are: Mary Ruth Black, 1006 Oregon Ave., Tarentum, Pennsylvania; Emilie Joyce Bonyne, 21 Whittingham Terrace, Milburn, New Jersey; Virginia Lee Markle, Biddle Road, Paoli, Pennsylvania; Lucy Middleton McClure, Naval Operating Base, Norfolk, Virginia; Patricia Nichols, Oondora Parkway, Highland Falls, New York; Wallace Stephen Sanderlin, Jr., 617 South St., Portsmouth, Virginia; Tabb Taylor, P. O. Box 874, Warrenton, Virginia; Mary Cecilia Thedick, 202 Causey Ave., Suffolk, Virginia; Etta Louise Wallace, P. O. Box 184, Burkeville, Virginia.

These nine students not only have the honor of becoming members of the oldest Greek letter society, but they also will be received into the first chapter of this honorary scholastic fraternity since Phi Beta Kappa was organized by a group of William and Mary students at the Raleigh Tavern in 1776.

Each of these students who will be initiated into Phi Beta Kappa participates in some extra-curricular activity. Mary Ruth Black is a member of the following organizations: German Club, Monogram Club, Varsity Basketball Team, Kappa Delta Pi, honorary educational society; Eta Sigma Pi, honorary classical fraternity; Y. W. C. A., French Club, Travel Club.

Berle Will Give Third Latin-American Speech

The third lecture in the series on inter-American problems under the sponsorship of the Faculty Committee on Lectures, Art, and Music will be delivered on Wednesday night, November 12th, at eight o'clock by Adolf Augustus Berle, Jr., Assistant Secretary of State of the United States. Mr. Berle received his A. B. from Harvard University when he was only eighteen years old and the degree of LL.B. three years later. He then practiced law in Boston and lectured on finance at the Harvard Business School. He next became associate professor of corporation law in the Law School of Columbia University. He was an expert on the staff of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace with Germany in 1918-19; has been special counsel for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in connection with various government missions; and served as financial adviser for the American Embassy to Cuba in 1933.

Wagner Announces New Concert Series

First Recital Features Paul Oncley November 23

Plans for the 1941-1942 season of the William and Mary Concert Series have now been partly completed, and in answer to many inquiries, are herewith made public. The Concert Series, together with the series of art exhibits and special lectures, has been arranged by the faculty committee on Lectures, Art and Music, of which Dr. A. Pelzer Wagner is chairman. The musical events of the current season promise to be more than usually varied and attractive, and will again be offered to students, faculty and public, without charge. All concerts take place in Phi Beta Kappa Hall, at 8 P. M.

Sunday, November 23rd, recital by Paul Oncley, tenor, assisted by Mrs. Paul Oncley, pianist. Mr. and Mrs. Oncley are members of the faculty of the University of North Carolina Woman's College, at Greensboro, N. C.

Tuesday, January 13th, recital by the group known as "Dancers en route". This is a newly formed Dance Group, some members of which formerly danced with the Hanyu Holm Group, which appeared at William and Mary with great success two years ago.

Sunday, February 1st, Piano recital by Yvonne Dienne. Madame Dienne has been a member of the college faculty for more than two years, and this will be her first solo recital in Williamsburg, though she has twice been heard

Green Replies To Inquiries

In response to inquiries, John D. Green, General Manager of Williamsburg Inn and Lodge, authorizes the following:

After reading recent issues of the FLAT HAT and talking with members of the student body, it appears that a certain amount of confusion exists among students at the College of William and Mary concerning the operation of Williamsburg Lodge and Chowning's Tavern. It is hoped that this situation can be clarified through the columns of the FLAT HAT.

Chowning's Tavern has been reconstructed and is operated as a tavern typical of those in Williamsburg during the eighteenth century. Restaurant facilities are limited but one of the unique aspects of the tavern is its dispensing of beer and wine in a manner suggestive of the eighteenth-century methods. While the atmosphere is of the eighteenth century the operations must necessarily be governed by twentieth century conditions. This means strict and impartial observance of the laws of Virginia and the regulations of the ABC Board. In these operations it is our policy to observe

Manzi and Vermilye Star in Season Opener, English Thriller Accorded Warm Reception

New Discoveries, Peg Lomas, Sally Snyder in Debuts

By ELI DIAMOND

Last Thursday and Friday nights William and Mary audiences were treated to their first pre-Broadway premiere as the William and Mary Theatre opened its season with Patrick Hamilton's "Gas Light". The play was produced under the direction of Miss Althea Hunt, lighting and staging were done as usual by Mr. Ross, and the new addition to the Fine Arts Department, Mr. Prentice Hill, was responsible for the costuming. The opening night audience was rather thin, but business improved the second night—aided greatly by the presence of a contingent of Fort Eustis trainees.

The cast included two old favorites in Tony Manzi and Dyke Vermilye. Everybody hiss . . . !

Student Majority Opposed to Change In Neutrality Law

First National College Poll Reveals Students Isolationists Attitude

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 4.—A majority of American college students, unlike most U. S. adults, are opposed to changing the neutrality law to allow supply ships to be armed and sent into war zones.

This isolationist attitude is discovered in the first poll of the school year completed last week by Student Opinion Surveys of America. The nation-wide canvassing likewise reveals overwhelming sentiment against actual fighting in the war and growing pessimism on the campus about the country's ability to avoid the conflict.

The latest Gallup poll, taken like this student survey was, since Congress took up neutrality revision, found a ratio of 46 to 40 per cent in favor of mounting guns on American ships and 54 per cent approving of American ships and crews delivering supplies to Britain. But college interviewers, sampling a scientific cross section in every part of the nation, found a different answer

Hoeling to Sail for War Zone; Speech Cancelled

Mr. Frederick Hoeling, who was scheduled to speak at the College on November 5, will not be able to appear here, as the date of his sailing for the war zone has been advanced, Dr. Harold Fowler announced.

A former instructor in history at the College, Mr. Hoeling left to volunteer for duty in the combat zone as an ambulance driver. While en route to Africa on the ill-fated Zam-Zam which was sunk by the Axis powers, he was taken prisoner. These experiences were to be the subject of his talk here.

Mr. Hoeling is leaving in the near future for an unannounced destination to again serve as an ambulance driver for the British. The date of his sailing is a secret which cannot yet be divulged. However, it is much earlier than was originally thought when the speech was scheduled.

Fireworks, Bonfires Set Touch to Celebrations

"More than likely this will be the biggest crowd we've ever had here for homecoming," said Charles McCurdy, Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association. Over 3,000 alumni are expected to return for W. and M.'s fall social season, which will begin Thursday night with a spirited pep rally, and will last through Friday and Saturday. During this time there will be a formal dance, a parade, an alumni picnic, and the football game with V. M. I. Festivities will close Saturday night with an informal dance.

New Concert To Feature Kirkpatrick

Students Invited, Nominal Price

Students of the College are cordially invited to attend the preview concert for residents of Williamsburg which will be held at 8:45 P. M. on Sunday, November 9, in the ballroom of the Governor's Palace, prior to the week of festival concerts of eighteenth-century music which start on November 10.

This pre-view has been a feature of the festival concerts since their inception some years ago, and offers students and townspeople an opportunity to attend the festival at a specially reduced price. Tickets are on sale at the offices of Mr. B. W. Norton, in the Goodwin Building, and are priced at $1.10, including tax. For those who would rather attend one of the concerts in regular series,

LITERARY TRYOUTS

Chi Delta Phi, National Honorary Literary Sorority, will be holding try-outs for women students until Nov. 6th.

Any woman who wants to submit material may give the same to either Doris Miller in Barrett Hall or Jane Alden in Kappa Delta House.

Three original manuscripts should be handed in. These may be either prose or poetry or some of both.

New members are chosen on the basis of works submitted by the present members of Chi Delta Phi. Those who are accepted will be notified by mail and all manuscripts will be returned.

Essay Contest Possible By Alfaro's Donation

Through the generous aid of Mr. Ricardo J. Alfaro, former President of the Republic of Panama, the College of William and Mary is enabled to offer its students a prize of fifty dollars for the best essay and twenty-five dollars for the second best essay.

What is the Greatest Joint Contribution the Western Hemisphere Nations Can Make to a Better World Order? The essays must be received by noon, May 1st, in Room 318, Marshall Wythe; they must be limited to 5,000 words, must be typed upon paper measuring 8½ by 11 inches, and must be in a form suitable for publication. Publication rights will be vested in the College of William and Mary. Members of the Department of Government will be happy to direct students to useful material and be of any other possible assistance.

College Band to Play For Red Cross Parade

There will be a Red Cross parade on Monday, November 10th, starting at 5:30 at the James City Court House. Dean Cox will address the gathering in front of the court house and then the parade will form and move up the Duke of Gloucester Street to the college corner. At that point Mayor Channing Hall will issue a proclamation officially opening the Roll Call for Williamsburg.

The College Band, and band from Fort Eustis, and a Color Guard from the Naval Mine Depot will be special attractions. There will also be representatives of the Four-H clubs, the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts, and other county organizations. This being one of the big events of the year in Williamsburg, it is hoped that a large number will turn out to watch the colorful affair.

Alumni Gives Check For 250th College Birthday Celebration

Geddy Heads Campaign To Solicit Interest

To celebrate the College's 250th anniversary, the alumni of the College have decided to give their Alma Mater a birthday check. The presentation will take place in June when the alumni association also celebrates its founding one hundred years ago.

The campaign to raise the fund is being carried out by a committee of 25 members, headed by Mr. Vernon Geddy of Williamsburg. Campaign managers have been appointed to call on fellow alumni in every county of Virginia to solicit interest. Over 300 in every state of the union will act as messengers. William and Mary alumni in Virginia alone total more than 6,000—which is more than one-half the number of all living alumni.

Other plans are also being made to honor the 250 years of William and Mary's service to state and nation. President Bryan has already met with the executive committee composed of Messrs. Channing Hall, Charles P. McCurdy, Jr., Richard L. Morton, Thomas Pinckney, J. Gordon Bohannon, and Charles J. Duke. Various recommendations have been discussed and approved have been referred to special working committees, the personnel of which will be appointed by the President.

There will be a meeting of the Spanish Club in Barrett Hall Wednesday evening at 7:30 P. M. Initiation of new members will take place. There will also be a program of Spanish music and refreshments will be served.

Freddy Johnson's Orchestra to Provide Swing For Gala Homecoming Week End Celebration

Popular Outfit Big Success At Seaside Park

Music for the Homecoming dances on Friday and Saturday nights will be supplied by swingster Freddy Johnson and his orchestra.

The President's Aides have made an excellent choice of a band to put a bang-up finish to the gala celebration of Homecoming Week-end. Freddy Johnson's band is becoming more and more popular in the South and can now be heard every Friday afternoon from coast to coast over the Mutual Broadcasting System from 4:30 to 5:00 P. M.

The band played at several southern resorts during the summer and made a big hit at all of them. Seaside Park stayed open an extra week at the end of the season by popular request because the band was so well-liked. Among other resorts, they played at Virginia Beach, Lumina Pavilion, Wrightsville Beach, N. C., and at the Isle of Palms, Charleston, S. C.

Freddy Johnson's music is definitely on the swing side, making his band a great favorite at many colleges throughout the South.

He will play for both the Friday and the Saturday night dances. The formal dance on Friday will be sponsored by the President's Aides. Saturday's will be informal and will be sponsored by the Freshman class.

Tickets may be secured from the Aides in any combination desired. Tickets for a couple or stag for both nights, or for a couple or stag for one night, may be purchased.

FREDDY JOHNSON AND HIS ORCHESTRA

FREDDY JOHNSON AND HIS ORCHESTRA — 15 artists — are now being heard each Friday afternoon over the Mutual Broadcasting System, Coast-to-Coast, on 128 stations. Time — 4:30 to 5:00 P. M. This great band made a big hit at Seaside Park, Virginia Beach; Lumina Pavilion, Wrightsville Beach, N. C.; Isle of Palms, Charleston, S. C.; in fact, Seaside Park stayed open an extra week at the end of the season by popular demand. Definitely on the "swing" side, the band is a great favorite at the various Colleges throughout the South.

Phalen Donates Books to Library

Dr. Harold B. Phalen of the Mathematics Department recently gave an original two-volume edition of the Institutioni Analitice of Maria Gaetana Agnesi, published in 1748, to the college library. Dr. Phalen purchased the books about 15 years ago through a colleague, a professor of Italian, whose brother was associated with the Milan library. The books are in almost perfect condition. Maria Agnesi is the most illustrious of the women mathematicians of Italy and she proves that women can be outstanding in this field. She began writing this book when she was only 20 years old, working on it day and night for 10 years.

Although her work was great, she could not be elected to the French Academy of Science because she was a woman. However, M. Montigny, one of the committee appointed by the academy to report upon the work, says in a letter to the author: "Permit me, Mademoiselle, to unite my personal homage to the plaudits of the entire academy. I do not know of any work of this kind which is clearer, more methodic, or more comprehensive. I admire particularly the art with which you bring under uniform method, the divers conclusions scattered among the works of geometry and recorded by methods entirely different."

A FAIR EXCHANGE

By Rhoda Hollander

From the DAILY ATHENAEUM, the West Virginia University publication, we get this good advice FOR JOY IN LIVING:

There are a thousand things to do. While a student is at college he is advised by as many people as can get his attention that he should study history to get "background," that he should study literature to get "culture," that he should study physics to get "a scientific attitude," that he should join a fraternity to "make contacts," and, last but not least, that he should go partying to "develop his social nature."

A person who did all that sure would be hard to beat!

Here's a conversation from THE ST. BONA VENTURE that might take place between lots of fathers and sons in the near future:

Father: "Well son, how are your grades?"

College boy: "They're under water."

Father: "What do you mean, under water?"

College boy: "Below 'C' level!"

FAMOUS QUIPS—

Noah: "It floats."

Nero: "I'm a hot shot!"

Cleopatra: "You're an easy mark, Anthony."

Methuselah: "The first hundred years are the hardest."

RESPECT FOR ELDERS:

The man was definitely angry. "Young man, my son tells me you called me an educated jackass."

The collegian sneered, "No, sir, I just said you're a burro of information."

A NICKEL AIN'T NOTHING!

... which reminds us of the guy who swallowed a nickel but we didn't believe it because we didn't see any change in him.

—Los Angeles Collegian.

... and WHAT WOULD YOUR ANSWER BE?

"Dear Dad: Guess what I need most of all. That's right. You guess it. Send some $oon. Your $on."

"Dear Norman: Nothing ever happens. We KNOW you like school. Write us another letter SOON. ARNOLD was asking about you Monday. Now we must say good-bye. The Governor."

—Duquesne Duke.

Other college campuses seem to have beat us to the draw in celebrating SADIE HAWKINS DAY this year. The University of North Carolina has slated the great event for November 8 and plans to execute it in this manner: The coeds will have four dates in one evening. The men register and their names are put into capsules that the coeds draw from a big bowl. Coeds will escort the men whose names they draw to the dance, and during the evening will change partners three times, escorting their past date home.

Concord College, in Athens, West Virginia, held their Sadie Hawkins Day Saturday, October 25, and in honor of the momentous occasion published a special Sadie Hawkins edition of THE CONCORDIAN, their college newspaper, which they called THE DOGPATCH DUSTPAN. The entire paper was in true Dogpatch lingo and ran such columns as "I Seed You'uns!" by "Old Man Mose," "Athletic Feet" by Absorb'n' Senior," and "Round About Dogpatch" by "Gertie Gush." An official list of Dogpatch characters from the Concord faculty and student body was made up. The activities included a chase for the males by the females, a Hillbilly Banquet, and a Lazonga Lift Party at night.

On some other campuses, the trend seems to be towards the more serious side of life, and the students are not only becoming defense-minded, but have taken to talking about it. At the UNIVERSITY OF RICHMOND, Tau Kappa Alpha, the national honorary forensic society, has formed plans aimed at bringing "questions of current importance" before the student body which are to be climaxed by a campus wide forum discussion on December 3 in the college chapel on various aspects of defense.

A microphone will be used in the audience and the program will be run as a Town Hall discussion. Westhampton, women's part of U. of R., beat the boys to the draw in starting these open forum discussions on national defense first. . . . Students at SKIDMORE COLLEGE, in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., are also starting to discuss problems concerned with aspects of the defense program this month in their series of Tow Hall Meetings.

"Family Portrait" Next Play of W. & M. Season

"Family Portrait" will be the next production of the William and Mary Players and is scheduled for presentation in December. This play will require a large cast. Auditions for new people interested in theatre work are being held all during this week by appointment with Miss Althea Hunt, director. These are general tryouts, and special sheets with varied material are provided for each person who tries out. During these general auditions, Miss Hunt will keep in mind the different types of characters needed for "Family Portrait". As a preliminary to these try-outs, a theatre open house was held in mid-October to acquaint new people with the theatre room, the staff, and upperclassmen in theatre work.

Try-outs for "Family Portrait" will begin at 3:00 P. M. on Monday, November 10. A copy of the play will be found on the desk of the main reading room of the Library.

Indians to Entertain V. M. I. in Homecoming Game Here Saturday

William & Mary Topples Dartmouth by Count of 3-0 Catlett, Pritchard, and Muha Lead Keydets in Classic

THE WAR CHANT

By REID BURGESS

—SOUTHERN CONFERENCE CHAMPS?—

Though not at all expected, the Indians' victory over Dartmouth came as not a great surprise to this department. For three seasons now we have watched Coach Voyles send his teams through victorious campaigns but we have never quite felt that the team clicked in the manner of a well oiled football machine. That is up until we saw them in action against George Washington in Norfolk a week or so ago. That night they worked with the precision and coordination that one finds in highly technical machines. We suspected from that moment that the team was finally reaching its peak of perfection and that from there on in W. and M. would be a hard ball team to beat—now we are sure of it. The Indians have reached just about perfection and they will go through the rest of the season without too much trouble.

Looking at the remainder of the schedule we find that V. M. I., Richmond, and N. C. State are the remaining opponents for the Indians this season. Now V. M. I. is to be met on our Homecoming and with Carl Voyles pointing for this game all season, as is his policy with regards to Homecomings, it is just too bad for the Keydets and we feel that they will be lucky to get by as closely as they did against the U. of Va., for the Indians are every bit as good as Virginia, in our estimation. The Spiders from up Richmond way can be counted on to make a game out of it, but it's almost a certainty that the Freshmen will be going without regulation from Thanksgiving evening on. (Freshmen rules are of course dropped with a win on Turkey Day). This leaves N. C. State as the only other remaining game. Now if V. M. I. and Richmond are taken, N. C. State will be all that stands between W. and M. and a claim on at least a part of the Southern Conference championship. With this kind of an incentive we don't think that the Indians would lose to Duke and so by the end of the season it looks like W. and M. as co-holder of the Championship of the Southern Conference along with Duke.

—SHOULD G. W. ALUMNI HOWL?—

Next Saturday the whole school goes all out in an effort to put on a good show for the "Old Grads", known officially as the Alumni. This group of ex-students occupies an unique position in the affairs of college life. They have all seen the end of their college days and yet they exert a more profound influence on the policy to be followed by their "alma mater" in regards to athletic relations with other schools than does any group or combination of groups connected with campus activities. A sure way to "shuffle off this mortal coil" is to sneak up behind some coach after he has gone through a poor season and ever so gently whisper one word—"Alumni".

Now if anyone is interested in putting this method of self-extermination to a test we have a prospect in mind who would probably serve the purpose to the proverbial "T". The name of this unfortunate individual is Bill Reinhart, and he coaches up in the nation's capital at one George Washington University.

George Washington is in the midst of its most miserable season, and the din that is being raised wherever G. W. fans and "old grads" gather is reminiscent of the commotion and confusion in the battle of the Argonne Forest in 1918. The boys in the driver's seat—namely the alumni—don't seem to realize that the material with which they expect a winner to

Field Goal By Johnson Edge; Punt Blocked

Playing on a cold, rain drenched field up at Hanover, N. H., last Saturday, the Indians of William and Mary came through with their greatest football game of the current season to upset the highly favored Big Green of Dartmouth, 3-0, before a Fall house party crowd of 8,000.

Heroes of the conquest were a converted tackle and a bone-crushing fullback. The former, Harold (Pappy) Fields, who played the most spectacular game of his career, set up the game winning play by blocking a punt and the latter, Harvey "Stud" Johnson, delivered the winning blow with a 25 yard field goal in the third quarter for the only score of the game.

In the second period Johnson attempted a tremendous field goal, which hit the right upright, but there was no doubt about his third period try. It sailed squarely between and went far past the uprights.

On two successive plays, Fields crashed his way into the Dartmouth backfield to nail Big Green ball carriers for losses of six and nine yards, and on the next play he sailed through to block John Krol's punt. The pigskin rolled out on the Dartmouth 21, and it was the Indians' ball, first and 10.

Johnson then slashed at the Dartmouth line twice, picking up four yards, but Bob Longacre failed to gain on third down. It was at this point that Harvey, the

Little Indians Lose 26-0 To Powerful Generals

Washington and Lee's lightweights thundered over the William and Mary Little Indians Saturday afternoon at Carey Field, 26-0.

The W. and M. 150 pounders received the kickoff and punted after two unsuccessful tries at the line. Taking the ball on their own 40, the Baby Generals sprinted through tackle for a touchdown on their first running play of the game. The conversion was good. Score 7-0.

Late in the quarter a pass down the center was good for another touchdown. The conversion was unsuccessful. The Lil' Indians sparked briefly on defense, but midway in the second canto a long pass was good for the third W. and L. tally. The conversion bounced off the upright; score at the half, 19 to 0.

Coming from their dressing rooms after the half, W. and M.'s 150 pounders played heads up defensive ball but could make no gains through the line. Play throughout the third quarter was loose and hard.

Then, in the fourth period another touchdown was scored. (Continued on Page 6)

Harriers Lose To Cavaliers

Varsity Topped 27-28; Frosh Win Likewise

One point played havoc with the William and Mary and the University of Virginia cross country teams in a meet held in Charlottesville last Friday. The Papooses eked out a victory over the Virginia Freshmen by the score of 27 to 26, while the Virginia varsity runners defeated the William and Mary Indians by the same score, 27 to 28.

Tucker, veteran distance runner at Virginia, paced the Cavalier varsity in their victory over William and Mary, outdistancing all other runners and winning by the time 20:49. Taylor of Virginia placed second in the meet, while Paul Couch, diminutive Indian distance runner, took third place, leading the William and Mary runners. Closely following Couch was Phil Thomas of William and Mary, who took fourth place. Other runners and their respective places and teams were as follows: Dudley Woods, William and Mary, fifth; Winburton, Virginia, sixth; Bob Sanderson, William and Mary, seventh; Barksdale, Virginia, eighth; Henry Pitzer, William and Mary, ninth; and March of Virginia, tenth. Tribe Is Favored to Take "Big Six", Southern Conference Contest Here

We know of certain "Victory dances" that were spoiled last week end, but William and Mary's top flight Indians can be counted on to preserve the proper spirit of Homecoming for the Alumni and to make the dances a complete success. After handing Dartmouth a surprising defeat, the general opinion is that there's nothing in the state which can check, much less stop, these powerful Indians.

Big Chief Voyles is known to point his sturdy band of warriors to the Home Coming game. If the Big Gun is pointing toward V. M. I., judging from last week's performance, it may be necessary to call out the militia to stop it. While the Indians will be keyed up to the highest possible pitch for the encounter, V.M.I.'s Keydets can be counted on to make it just what it has been forecast — the best state game of the season. A team with Muha, Pritchard, and Catlett isn't going to be defeated without a great battle. Noted for their heroic spirit and gameness, V.M.I. has the manpower to make it very tough on the Big Six Champions of '40 and a sure shot to repeat in '41, regardless of other claims. The West Point of the South has tasted victory only twice this season, but they have played some of the nation's best. After losing four in a row, the Keydets came back strong against the pitifully weak Richmond Spiders and last week fought back a scrappy Davidson "11" to win, 13-7. This season has been a nightmare for head coach "Pooley" Hubert due to his loss of so many promising ball players. Regardless of blow after blow, the great Alabama player has put together a very formidable lot of boys and welded them into a smooth, powerful, well oiled machine. As usual the driving force of the team is Jolting Joe Muha, one of the most pre-season heralded backs in the South. Muha has power, speed and a very accurate right arm. His stellar play has kept the Keydets in

K. A., Kappa Sig Down Favored Opponents

This week saw several teams which had previously been picked as rather weak come through to defeat several of the favorites. An underdog before the game, a shifty and fast Kappa Alpha team came through to beat the strong-favored Sigma Alpha Epsilon delegation by a score of 37 to 12. The fighting Phi Kappa Tau team, led by little Tommy Paynter, were defeated by the Kappa Sigma team, led by John Todd.

In the dormitory league the Second Floor of Monroe barely edged out a determined and fighting team from the Second Floor of Old Dominion by a score of 7 to 6. This game proved to be one of the most evenly matched games of the season, for it was difficult for the bystander to determine which team had the advantage. Also, in the dormitory league the Third Floor of Old Dominion defeated the South End of Tyler by a score of 13-0.

By looking over the various scores in both the fraternity league and the dormitory league, it certainly looks as if it were going to be a close race for the winners. Teams which were picked to be outstanding at the beginning

Eleanore Brooks Wins Archery Meet

The open Archery tournament was held last Thursday, October 30th. Due to very windy weather only five girls participated. They were: Eleanore Brooks, Betty Neiderlander, Elizabeth Johnson, Jean Peterson and Anna Belle Koenig. The scores were hindered because of the strong wind, however first place was taken by Eleanore Brooks who shot 200; second place with 180 points was Betty Neiderlander; and Elizabeth Johnson took third place with 159 points.

W. & M. to Play In State Hockey Tournament

This Friday seventeen of William and Mary's hockey squad will go to Westhampton to participate in the State Tournament which will last the entire weekend. William and Mary will probably play West Hampton and Sweet Briar, the teams they usually meet in the State Tournament.

The girls who will go to Richmond this week-end are: Peggy Allen, Captain Anne Armitage, Polly Bryan, Virginia Davis, Ione Faison, Marion Flavell, Winnie Gill, Mary Ruth Black, Nancy Hale, Patsy Leonard, Anne Leavitt, Mary Lou Manning, Eleanore Rubeby, Martha Snow, Cleo Tweedy, Helen Woods, and Flossie Yachnin.

Out of these seventeen girls, it is hoped that several will be chosen as members of the Virginia State Team and then will be able to go to Sweet Briar to take part in the Southeastern Tournament the next week-end.

St. Catherine's Win Hockey Game

Last Tuesday the Junior Varsity hockey team traveled up to Richmond to meet Saint Catherine's High School. The William and Mary lasses were defeated by a 3-0 score after a long and tedious battle. Saint Catherine's were held scoreless until the last minute of play in the first half. The second half was entered with renewed vigor, but no scoring could be done by the college girls, while the high school maids chalked up two more goals to clinch the game.

The William and Mary lineup was:

Center forward, Mary Loy Manning
Right inner, Charlotte Timmerman
Right wing, Katie Rutherford
Center half, Duvoisin
Right full, Polly Bryan
Right half, Marion Ross.

First Intramural Hockey Games Played Friday—Games Scheduled for This Week.

Friday afternoon intramural hockey began with Jefferson defeating Brown 7-0. It was agreed beforehand by both teams that the halves would be fifteen minutes instead of the regular twenty minute halves. The points were scored by Libby Fisher, making one in the first half and two in the second half; Dot Engstrand, one in the first half; Paulette Stevenson, making one in the first and second half; and Penny Mims who made one goal in the first half.

The lineups were as follows:

Jefferson
Paulette Stevenson, center forward
Ghrisieve Lovell, right inner Penny Mims, right wing
Maisie Tressler, center half
Bee Monell, right half
Peg Kelly, right full
Pat Riker, goal keeper
Beth McClelland, Lois Winder, Betty Havey, Elaine Lewis, substitutes.

Richmond To Be Next Frosh Foe

Marine Game Cancelled, Wake Forest Scheduled

With the Quantico Marine game definitely postponed, it's the University of Richmond's turn next to face the firing line of the undefeated Papoose powerhouse.

With Ably Wallihall regaining his eligibility and barring any new injuries that might arise, the potent Papooses should be at full strength for the Spider game to be played in Richmond November 14. Having rung up 68 points in three straight wins, the Indians don't look for too much trouble from a Richmond eleven which has yet to win its first game.

Loss to V. M. I.

In their campaign opener the Spiders dropped a hard fought contest to a strong V. M. I. squad, 14-7. Exhibiting a smooth running attack at spots during the match, the Spiders threw a scare into the Keydets when a sustained march netted them a touchdown by their triple threat halfback, Jackie Willbourne.

Against Fork Union M. A., Richmond threatened several times but lacked the necessary punch to score. At one time they came within one foot of paydirt, but were thrown back on a fourth down by the Fork Union forward wall.

Let Us Merry Merry Be . . .

The FLAT HAT adds its welcome to the college chorus of Alumni greetings. We hope the men and women who once went to classes at William and Mary have a good time at their homecoming festival. The return of the old graduate to his alma mater for fun and folly at "homecoming" is a well worn American theme. We have no reason to believe that this week-end celebration will differ from any of its annual predecessors. We know as an undergraduate that there is a difference in the student body from even the only yesterday of 1940 and 1939.

The guns of Europe have shot more than steel into the bodies of men. Their echoes have set up undercurrents which this campus has felt in other wars. There is here a restlessness which silently tugs at the hearts of young men who study. None of us understand or are very certain about the future. All of us know that we will not be selling automobiles, refrigerators, insurance, or making the rounds of city employment agencies with a diploma in our hands. For many of us the world has become deadly serious and not that life somewhere in time after this pleasant collegiate passage of classroom and campus.

We are not yet soldiers and the soldiers we see are not yet fighting. There is now only this waiting for war. Someone has yet to discover the right words for the answer we are asking. It has to be more than Victory, that overworked catch phrase which means only to win a bloody kind of beast battle because your side has more guns. We shall find a fighting faith in what is to be, not what has been.

We have yet to hear the words fully spoken.

So this autumn at college we wait uncertain of many things and welcome the Alumni to "homecoming." The pleasure of meeting old friends is a genuine one and we wish the Alumni a merry merry week-end. Monday morning they will be sober.

We Only Ask . . .

The administration has asked for student cooperation to aid in conserving fuel this winter. The college coal supply is geared to the economic workings of national defense but the request for heat and light conservation in dormitory rooms does not require any patriotic cliché to be formulated in support of the appeal. There is a coal shortage and there is a reason. The administration has a difficult problem and it is asking for voluntary student help in the solution. There are no rules or regulations. No one is being told they must do anything. It is a very simple request.

Do not leave radiators and lights turned on when they are not needed. The judgment of when they are not needed is of course an individual one and we hope can be arrived at without a diagram. It is a matter of cooperation and not regulation. In Norway all the best blankets go to the Army and anyone who doesn't like it can tell it to the Nazis. We only ask that you remember to turn a radiator valve.

Dear Editor . . .

There is on our desk an anonymous letter from a college student who makes serious charges on an important issue. The letter we regret must remain unpublished until the author makes his or her name known. A conviction which lacks the courage of signature loses the right of publication.

We can understand that there might be circumstances which would require an individual to withhold his name from the printing of a statement he sincerely deemed necessary to bring to the public attention.

We must insist that the writer of any views to this paper make his identity known to the editor. The decision to print any article written under a pseudonym we reserve to the office of the editor. It is The FLAT HAT policy to decide on the validity of any circumstances which require the use of a pseudonym. In all issues the writer's name and signature must be available for our files.

PERIODICAL PICKINGS

By PAUL GANTT

Dean John Henry Wigmore tells in his "Panorama of the World's Legal Systems" the story of a famous lawsuit which took place in Athens about 2,500 years ago. One Protagoras, a teacher of oratory, made a contract with his pupil, Evalthus, that his fee should be payable when Evalthus won his first lawsuit.

After a while the lessons ceased and the teacher pronounced him competent, but the young man insisted he was not. So the teacher sued. While waiting for trial, the teacher said to his friends, "I win either way; for if the judgement is for me, he must pay, but if it is for him, he has won his first lawsuit and under the contract he must therefore pay." But the young man said to his friends, "I win either way, for if the judgement is for me, I am liable; and if the judgement is against me, I have not yet won my first lawsuit." The judges, it is said, were so puzzled by their dilemma, that they adjourned the case for a hundred years.

In 1884 A. D. the so-called "Mignonette-Case" aroused English public opinion almost as much as the Sacco-Vanzetti case did the American. Two seamen and a boy were cast away in an open boat during a storm on the high seas. The boat was drifting on the ocean and was probably more than 1000 miles from land. On the eighteenth day, when they had been seven days without food and five without water, one of the seamen proposed that lots should be cast to determine who should be put to death to save the others.

But afterwards the seamen thought it would be better to kill the boy, that their lives should be saved. On the twentieth day they killed the boy and fed from his flesh for four days when they were rescued by a vessel.

At the time of the act, there was no sail in sight nor any reasonable prospect for relief. The English court found the seamen guilty of murder and held that the homicide was not justifiable.

This column will publish any contribution suggesting a solution of the first case or any criticism regarding the second case. A human evaluation will be appreciated rather than a technical legal opinion.

Gamma Kappa Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma announces with pleasure the initiation of Mary Prickett Carter, Nashville Tenn.; Sally Douglas, West Caldwell, N. J.; and Mary Elliott Henderson, Boston, Mass. The initiation took place Wednesday, October 22nd.

Tau Chapter of Phi Alpha announces the pledging of Buddy Hoffman, Hyman Winn, David Marcus, and Belvin Robin.

The K.D.'s celebrated their founder's day recently by wearing white dresses and roses. Their sorority was founded at Farmville State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, October 23, 1897. Jane Alden is the president of the Alpha Pi Chapter which was established here in 1928. Among Kappa Delta's outstanding members are Peary Buck, the Nobel Prize winner in 1938-39; Helen Claire of dramatic fame; Georgia O'Keefe, the painter; and Hildegarde Fillmore, fashion authority.

Nu Chapter of Kappa Sigma recently pledged Virgil Ford of Norfolk, Virginia, and Howard Shaw of Roanoke, Virginia.

Alpha Zeta Chapter of Kappa Alpha takes pleasure in announcing the initiation of Dixon L. Foster and Wayne Fulton Gibbs, Jr. Both are from Williamsburg, Virginia and were initiated October 20th. The local chapter also wishes to announce the pledging of Richard Copeland, Jr., of Hopewell, Virginia.

On October 12th the K.A.'s gave a reception in honor of their new housemother, Mrs. M. J. Daniel. Among the one hundred and fifty guests present were faculty members and their wives, sorority housemothers, dormitory hostesses, and townspeople.

POPULARLY SPEAKING

By Martha Newell

The Classics have been submerged in modernism: although Peter Ilich Tchaikovsky, were he here, probably should have much to say about the modern renditions of his "Concerto No. 1 in B. Flat Minor", he might find the Freddie Martin recording not excessively offensive. Mr. Martin seems to have a great deal of respect for the renowned Russian composer for he handles the composition with delicacy and finesse, and there is the lyrical genius who added vocals. The finished renovation of the original concerto bears the rather limitative title—"Tonight We Love".

The list of Tommy Dorsey's hits goes on interminably but swing fans like more and still more! "Two in Love" and "This Love of Mine" are recent releases which claim plenty of most favorable praise. Tommy's trombone takes solo parts in the usual mellow way. In "Two in Love", the guitar's rhythmical accompaniment to the solo sounds marvelous because of its clarity with a third brush accompaniment on the drums. Sinatra, in his inimitable style, sings the lyrics.

To be effusively sentimental for just a moment, we might say that "Frankie Boy" really melts into those vocals. Anyway, the recording is smooth and well worth an audition. (Victor 27611-A).

"This Love of Mine", equally as good, is a different rhythm altogether. It is one of the "die is cast" numbers in which the singer laments over the lost, unrequited love of something! This time, to attain the melancholy effect, Frank Sinatra sings very softly. Need it be said that he attains his effect but definitely. Victor 27508 is the call number.

"You Stepped Out of a Dream" appeared in a movie sometime this summer, but it had been popular before that. Comparatively speaking, by now it should be ancient and forgotten, but in spite of its age, it's still good. Lately it has enjoyed a rebirth of popularity. Glenn Miller has a neat recording of it with Ray Eberle doing one of his best vocal jobs, blending with the Modernaires voices it sounds swell. Get it on Bluebird B-11042.

An inexcusable pun: Everyone is setting the world on fire today! Seriously, though, a lot of recordings of the popular favorite have been waxed by a variety of bards and there is diversity among them. With no intent to debunk, but as a mere candid opinion, the Ink Spots have done the worst job to date. Nuff said!

Skinney Ennis and his band recorded it also. Skinney handles the lyrics in his well-known breathless manner. One almost expects him to expire before he finishes singing, so the effect does not please the listener greatly.

Mitchell Ayres has done a commendable piece of work on it, though. Vocalist Meredith Blake and the Four Trumpet-Ayres do justice to the song. This may be purchased on Bluebird B-11275.

QUESTION: What is your opinion on government regulation of labor?

The government is letting John L. Lewis and his stooges get away with too many satisfied demands.—Bob Weinberg, '44.

The government should install a much more stricter regulation of labor than we now have. A national emergency exists, and if labor does not want to do its part the government should force them to.—Jim Ward, '43.

It's high time that the government took steps to start a draft of labor—providing they can keep a satisfactory control of capital.—Dyke Vermilye, '43.

It is just as important to prevent inflation and exorbitant profits as it is to keep labor quiet. Unity of effort from all factors is important.—David Urquhart, '45.

It is about time that the government took a definite stand on labor problems—and a strict one.—Connie Curtis, '42.

Recent strikes in vital defense industries seem to have made the government realize that a greater measure of control is needed. The government might as well go ahead and take a definite stand. We've had enough shilly-shallying.—E. Costenbader, '43.

The labor problem in the defense program is without doubt the most difficult of all to solve. The government cannot establish hard and fast rules all of a sudden, but must move upon each strike individually as it has done up to the present. Mr. Lewis, however, must eventually be put in his place by legislation controlling all labor leaders who are acting as agitators.—Milt Greenblat, '43.

The government has lost so much time and money by their vacillating hesitant policy that if they don't soon adopt a definite policy we'll really be in a mess on the "defense" program.—Caroline Cook, '42.

The government's attitude is today defeating its own purpose. Until a definite stand and vital action are taken on the labor problem, our attempt at a "victory Defense Program" is practically futile. "A little less talk and a little more action, please!"—Pat Pelham, '43.

There is not enough cooperation and coordination between government and labor. The government should not suppress labor, nor should it allow labor to rule supreme. Not being psychic, I cannot prophesy as to exactly how this should be done, but a happy medium, with justice the outstanding factor, should be applied to weld labor and the government into a unified and powerful force.—Jim Anderson, '42.

Labor and Mr. Lewis must learn that the furtherance of their cause when it comes in direct conflict with the furtherance of the defense programme is absolutely fatal to the position of the U. S. in today's critical times. The Government will have to solve this problem by taking drastic action with labor and make definite curtailment of Lewis' power and stubbornness.—Jim Fleming, '43.

I think the government should institute compulsory arbitration in the vital defense industries.—Tom Smith, '42.

The William and Mary Go-Round

By Robert B. Ellert

Our new motto for the College of William and Mary would run something like this, "Let's do and die for dear old Athletic Association."

Biggest sacrifice on the part of the students so far this year was at recent co-eds where with hearty good will they preserved the floor of the new gym for future generations of basketball teams. Of course, they did suffer slight discomfort, but no more than they do at the usual Saturday dances. Aside from a few silver-slippers being tarnished and several dresses torn and a few shins bruised, everyone had a marvelous time, lightly dancing to the music of Charley Weber.

So much space, you know . . . We have heard the rumour that those massive doors that guard the gym will be opened for homecoming frolics. You will pardon us for strongly doubting this though we will have hope.

Were you at that big Apprentice School game. We were, wasn't it wonderful. . . and the Randolph-Macon game. . . such color and glamour. It is too bad we couldn't have had the further pleasure of seeing Hampden-Sydney perform at home. Seriously though, there should be no reason for the George Washington and Richmond game not being played in Williamsburg. For $23 we deserve something more than two decent home games (V.M.I. and N.C.S.). Oh yes, when we do go away for a home game we are generously granted a whole 50c off our tickets. It couldn't be that we are being exploited. No, no, no, to the other half of our team.

Don't you just relish eating sup-

Overheard By His Lordship

Here I am again students. This week I kept my eyes and ears wide open. Art, Hallowe'en, and a victory over Dartmouth hit the campus. Also "Honky Tonk" was in town, which drew some people away from the legitimate stage. The play, "Gas Light" was however the better production . . . Peace may be lacking throughout the world, but there is peace at heart at W. and M. for Betsy Yow and Howard Tew are reunited . . . This one has His Lordship stumped: Is the friendship between "Bottles" and Jean Boyle Platonic? . . . The couple of the week: Frosh football star, Bob Barritt and Louise Thomas . . . I also see where Garland Isaacs has joined the navy. At least one of the Richmond papers carried the story . . .

More than the band went to the Peanut Carnival in Suffolk; Prickett Carter represented the State of Tennessee, and was one of the queen's ladies-in-waiting . . . To Ruth Wieman, did you see your redheaded boy friend out with Marilyn Miller? . . . When looking for Ed Fisher, you may usually find him with a Theta woman . . . Dudley Woods has changed, her name is now Shirley . . . Will Bill Heffner really be happy in escorting Babs Stanford around during Home Coming? . . .

I like men,
They stride about;
They reach in their pockets
And pull things out.

They look important.
They rock on their toes,
They loose all their buttons
From their clothes.

They loose their pipes;
They find them again;
Men are odd creatures.
I like men!

Women are called the weaker sex, but take it from me, this Hallowe'en was all the girls' show. OD and Monroe were wrapped in silence, while Chandler was the height of fun-making. Nothing like: putting cold cream on doornobs, setting the alarm clocks for 11 P. M., taking out the electric light bulbs, making a general havoc of tied shoes, changing boys' pictures from one room to another, and doctering up the tooth powder; to give the Hallowe'en spirit. It was just a nice quiet evening, so peaceful. The only other noticeable activity was the putting of the waste receptacles in the Sunken Garden and moving the cannon in front of my statue. It was a nice night, and I suffered nothing.

Just as the Statue of Liberty carries a torch so does Bruce Maples for Ann Washington. May the light of love illuminate, perhaps it might even rise to a spark . . . The band performance drew applause for their performance. We did not win, but here at W. and M. we did not kick when we lose. Take it with a smile, which they did . . . The weather, rain, shrinks some people's hat, but Bob Hutcheson hasn't been out in the rain; what makes his hat not fit his head? . . . Don Taylor imported his flame from Norfolk last Friday . . .

Vic Raschi has engraved in his heart Sally Glenn's image . . . Why do Freshmen girls ask so many questions of lab. instructors? Jack Holloway answers many of their inquiries . . . Betty Johnston has simmered Lee Hotchkiss' infatuation for upperclass women . . . Bradford Dunham has at last consented to date . . . Teddy Marsh and Herb Kelly . . . Harry Breisford and Jean Peterson were at the dance last Saturday. I know why she won't give him a date until after two weeks . . . A tuneful combination, Barbara and Darell Watson . . .

His Lordship says marriage is an institution of legal prosecution. She prosecutes for the rest of your life . . . He is a man of high ideals, and his practices well??? . . . We all have our bad moments and she's it . . . Remember in childhood when you ducked being kissed by friends and relatives. Why do they have to grow up . . . I think that I have talked myself still for another week. Thus I go back to my vigil. Next week end Home Coming. Life for me then will be very, very interesting. See you in print.

What the freshmen show us at College! Chummy cheek-pinch for all the girls is the order of the day with cute (?) Dick Neubauer.

Is education being sacrificed for the thrill of winning games. . . No, I don't think so. I think education is and will benefit tremendously by our new athletic policy. For it is obvious that the school is expanding and growing as a result. With this expansion newer and better educational facilities are

However, no matter how much we condone this new regime, I think it would be nice for the students to get a little more consideration and for their interests to be given a thought now and again.

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi, Education Fraternity, held its meeting last Tuesday night. Pat Nichols, president of the organization, presided over the meeting. "Guidance in Education", was the topic on which Dr. Royal Embree made an interesting address. After the meeting, refreshments were served.

Y. W. C. A.

The first meeting of the Y.W. C.A. was held in Wren chapel on Tuesday, October 22. An atmosphere of meditation was created by the playing of organ music while the members were arriving. The program opened with a responsive reading which is to be used at all subsequent meetings. Dr. Foltn delivered a message which was inspiring, on "Evening Prayer". Claire Hulcher, presi-

Spanish Club

All members are requested to be present at the Spanish Club meeting on Tuesday night at 7:30 in Barrett Hall. Prospective members are reminded of their dues which must be paid before they can be initiated.

Lambda Phi Sigma

Lambda Phi Sigma, music fraternity, met again in the Music Building on Tuesday night. The eligibility of certain students for membership was debated. It was also decided that the fraternity would sponsor a trip to the Mosque in Richmond on February 8.

Wesley Foundation

Discussion of the topic, "Religion on the Campus" was initiated at the regular meeting of the Wesley Foundation on Sunday night in the Methodist Church reading room. This discussion will be continued next Sunday night. A program of Choral reading entitled, "I Believe in God" will be presented on the following Sunday night. Visitors will be welcomed at any time.

Backdrop Club

Open-house was held by The Backdrop Club in Wren Kitchen on Wednesday night. All those interested in dramatics were invited. This year it has been decided that only members of the club will be eligible for participation in the Varsity Show.

Sigma Pi Sigma

Sigma Pi Sigma met Tuesday night, October 23, in Rogers Hall. The following were initiated: Margaret Allen, Louise Wallace, Bill Slater, Claude Kelly, and Jerry Rose. A picnic was planned for all members, to be given Tuesday P. M., November 4.

Gibbons Club

Catholic students were entertained by the Gibbons Club at a reception Sunday evening in the home of Mrs. Lavery. All students interested in joining will attend the meeting Tuesday, November 4, at 7:15 in the Dodge Room, Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Accounting Club

Paul Gantt and Sam Robbins are now secretary and treasurer, respectively. Wednesday night, October 27, in Marshall-Wythe Hall. These offices were left vacant by Seniors.

French Club

Professor Pierre Macy addressed the French Club on October 28 in Brown Hall, outlining the plans and the purposes of the club. The club is to be a living organism with vital, cultural and social interest and influence which are to echo out to campus life and even to extend beyond the confines of W. and M. College. After discussing the talents among students of the French department, and their influential potentialities, the program continued with the singing of popular French songs. Recitations were given by Nancy Eshia, Guislaine Lovell, Florencio Coll, and Jack Feaster.

There will be another meeting on Tuesday, November 11, at 7:00 in Brown Hall. Since changes have been made in the constitution, membership is extended to all students without discrimination and the club is still admitting new members.

The Chi O's, Tri Deltas, and Gamma Phi's entertained in honor of their pledges and initiates last week. The respective presidents of these three sororities are Claire Louise Hulcher, chairman of the Judicial Committee; Virginia Ruth Gould; and Phyllis Anne Hile, president of the Panhellenic Council.

Berle Lecture

Mr. Berle is not only an authority in the field of finance, but has proved his practical ability in that sphere. He became chamberlain of New York City in 1934 and in that capacity was personal adviser to Mayor LaGuardia in financial matters. He has been a strong supporter of the present national administration and is rated by Time Magazine as one of the "New Deal's" most active minds. In 1936-37 he was a delegate of the United States government to the Inter-American Conference for Maintenance of Peace at Buenos Aires and in 1938 was a delegate to the Eighth Pan-American Conference at Lima, Peru. In 1938 he became Assistant Secretary of State. As such he has been most prominently in the eye of the public and the press because of his advocacy of the economic integration of the western hemisphere through the formation of a kind of hemispheric surplus commodities corporation. This would buy up surpluses in Latin America while the Latin Americans would scale down products of competitive and unmarketable crops and produce strategic materials needed by the United States.

Mr. Berle has published several books in the field of corporation finance. During the past two years numerous articles by him and about him have appeared in the Reader's Digest, Congressional Digest, Survey Graphic, Vital Speeches of the Day, Newsweek, Christian Science Monitor, Virginia Quarterly Review, Time, and elsewhere. Because of his studies and researches, his practical experiences, and his present position Mr. Berle will be able to speak with authority upon the topic he has chosen, "Pan-Americanism — An Experiment in Cooperative International Economics."

The fourth lecture and the final one in the series, will be delivered on November 25th by Dr. Herbert J. Spinden, Curator of American Indian Art and Primitive Cultures in the Brooklyn Museum. Dr. Spinden will speak on "Ancient Civilizations of the Andes" and his lecture will be illustrated with slides. Dr. Freeman will present his next review of current events on Monday, November 17, at eleven o'clock.

Thursday, February 12th, recital by the Lehman Engel Singers, one of the foremost vocal ensembles in the country today. Their program will feature English and American ballads, songs, catches, glees, madrigals, and so forth, introduced by Mr. Lehman Engel as commentator.

Thursday, March 19th, recital by the Curtis String Quartet, of Philadelphia, one of the foremost string quartets of our day, and probably the best all-American chamber music group in existence.

Sunday, March 29th, violin recital by Ramon Douse, assisted by Allan Sly, pianist. This will be Mr. Douse's first concert here in almost two years. He was last heard here in a recital with Yvonne Dienne, pianist. Mr. Douse's program will include some music by twentieth century composers.

Other concerts for which final arrangements are not yet quite completed, will feature the various student musical organizations at the college, three of them choral, and two instrumental. It is estimated that from 250 to 300 students will perform in these concerts, which are scheduled tentatively for December, late April, and May.

Vermilye, as Sergeant Rough and Mr. Manningham (nee Sidney Power) detective and villain, respectively; Margaret Lomas, as Mrs. Manningham — the tortured victim, and Sally Snyder as the maid, Nancy. The only other part of any importance (Elizabeth) was played without inspiration by Marlon Heiden.

Since "Gas Light" was the first play of the season, and consequently this the first review, there can be no better time than the present to discuss the postulates for this, and forthcoming criticisms. There is a deep-seated conception prevalent around this campus that effort, and effort alone is the quality to be praised. And although a display of effort from any quarter of the student body is reason enough for rejoicing, it is nonetheless the finished article, in this case the play, which must finally be judged. The goal to be achieved by the means of this criticism is the betterment of the dramatic productions both with regard to the plays chosen, and the technique of presentation. This reviewer is well aware that the worshippers at the shrine of Dramatic Criticism are properly considered to be only a limited group of venerable ancients residing in New York City, but it is the hope of this critic that he be pardoned the desecrations he contemplates.

"Gas Light" was, everything considered, a fairly happy choice to open this season with. After the early moments of the first act had worn off, the audience evinced increasing enjoyment and were finally moved to spontaneous participation at the second act entrance of the discovered villain, Manningham. Briefly sketched, the action of the play centers around Manningham's efforts to convince his wife of her own insanity. His purpose in this is to get rid of her, and thus be able to make an undetected search for some valuable gems, whose owner he had murdered twenty years beforehand. This presents an exciting psychological situation, but the author proves incapable of building a play around it. The entire structure of the play, from the incredibly obvious character delineation to the senseless anticlimax that Mr. Hamilton tacks on at the end after all semblances of the action have been resolved, is woefully weak.

Properly, the first two acts together constitute a unit which does not admit of division. Indeed, the separation occurring when it does, produces an effect quite analogous to that produced by a film-break at the height of the chase sequence in a horse-opera! Actually the entire dramatic action is unfolded in the play's first act, and in the final two acts one merely waits until the archfiend is brought to book. The result of this inept handling is that Mr. Hamilton's original idea is all but drowned in the melodramatic shrieks of the unfortunate Mrs. Manningham.

The principal job of holding up the play fell squarely on the slim these laws and regulations scrupulously. As a matter of cooperation with the administration of the College, the operating policy at Chowning's Tavern as at the Lodge, has been to provide such services and facilities without creating unnecessary disciplinary problems and to rely on student realization that they are on their honor in certain matters off campus as well as on campus. The management of these units does not wish to impair in any respect the established regulations of the College.

There is no discrimination against College students at either Chowning's or at the Lodge. On the contrary, it is hoped that students, townspeople, and visitors will find the newly restored tavern and the Lodge as popular as the Lodge has been since its opening more than two years ago.

Since the greatest congestion— and perhaps the most confusion among students—has come at week-ends, the management has undertaken to acquaint the students through appropriate channels of the difficult operating problems at Chowning's Tavern. Space is limited and with large numbers of visitors in the city, the management desires to enable the public generally to enjoy the facilities of this tavern at all times. A suggestion was made informally that students refrain from patronizing the tavern on Saturday evenings. Other measures have been taken to accommodate students who still wish to come to the tavern on week-end evenings. If students feel that Chowning's offers the beginning of a tradition comparable to traditions in other colleges and universities, the management will be glad to foster such a tradition as long as it is consistent with the policy of college administration. It cannot condone violations or evasions of college regulations and the laws of Virginia.

By its sustained popularity the Lodge has demonstrated what might be called the beginning of another tradition among college students. From the outset its shoulders of Miss Lomas and she struggled bravely toward that end. However the nature of the dialogue was such that she was unable to keep from lapsing into the melodramatic, and the play suffered because of it. On the other hand, what measure of suspense and plausibility that was retained, was largely due to the efforts of Dycke Vermilye, whose characterization of the villainous Manningham was a revelation. He carried off the part with the assurance to be expected of the habitual criminal himself.

Mr. Hamilton's best and wittiest lines had the good fortune to fall to Tony Manzi. His portrayal of Rough was perhaps more gentle than one might have wished, but he got his man in the end and that's what matters. However, the surprise of the evening was Sally Snyder's coquettish Nancy. It should be a marvel to no one if her popularity shows a sudden and perceptible increase.

game room has been a popular rendezvous and students, as well as the public, have been welcome to use these facilities. On occasions, good management has necessitated temporary closing of this room because undesirable and objectionable patronage was noted from sources outside of Williamsburg. As a measure of safeguarding the reputation of the Lodge and as a definite safeguard for students of the College, the game room was temporarily closed on week-ends last spring.

During the fall, the game room has been utilized on Saturday evenings for programs of spirituals by singers from Hampton Institute. The past of these programs was presented on Saturday evening, November 1st. Until further notice the game room of the Lodge will be open to College students on Saturday evenings as well as at other times during the winter.

The management of Williamsburg Inn and Lodge looks with distinct favor upon College patronage and wishes students to understand its position. These facilities and others provided by the Restoration make Williamsburg an unusual college town.

The management will continue to welcome suggestions concerning activities and services which may be of particular interest to students. It goes without saying that the cooperation of the students in observing regulations which must be established at such public places should add perceptibly to the enjoyment which they and other patrons may derive from these facilities.

The average man on the street in a South American capital can hardly appreciate what the United States government is doing for Good Will.

Bryan Talks November 11

As has been the custom for a number of years ceremonies commemorating the anniversary of the signing of the armistice which ended the last World War November 11th, 1918, will be held jointly by the College of William and Mary and Peninsula Post No. 39, The American Legion, Tuesday, Nov. 11, at 12 o'clock noon in front of the Wren Building.

Dr. John Stewart Bryan will be the speaker for the occasion and music will be furnished by the College Chorus. The President of the Student Body, Douglas R. Robins, will read an extract from the Funeral Oration of Pericles recorded by the Greek historian, Thucydides. This oration was greatly admired by the late President J. A. C. Chandler and is read in memory of his services to the College.

The roll call of the war dead from Williamsburg and James City County will be read by Barton I. Jensen, Past Commander of Peninsula Post No. 39, and from the alumni of the College by Charles Malcolm Sullivan, President of the Senior Class.

The citizens of the City of Williamsburg and County of James City and the faculty and students of the College are invited to attend these exercises.

Mr. Eskildson Sponsored By Lutheran Students

On Sunday, November 2, at 2:30 P. M., the Lutheran students of the College sponsored a talk by Mr. Hugo Eskildson, in the school room of the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Eskildson is a graduate of the University of Denver in 1940, and until June 1941 continued doing graduate work at the same university on a Fellowship with the Bureau of Business and Social Research. In June 1941 Mr. Douglas Miller, the author of "You Can't Do Business With Hitler," selected Mr. Eskildson to act as his assistant on a special research project sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation. This project was to make an intensive study of Nazi economic methods and results.

This fall the Rockefeller grant was rescinded at the request of the United States government and Messrs. Miller and Eskildson are now continuing the research in the office of the Coordination of Information.

This event was open not only to Lutheran students, but to all students and members of the faculty as well.

William and Mary Topples Dartmouth

Stud, made his dramatic game winning kick.

At various stages of the game Dartmouth threatened and William and Mary threatened, but neither team came very close to scoring.

Although Fields was outstanding in the line, the sterling play of the rest of the forward wall, especially guard Buster Ramsey, cannot be overlooked. Ramsey was his usual brilliant self, diagnosing and smearing Dartmouth plays.

Dartmouth, alternating its teams by quarters, put on only one real march, that coming in the second period. This threat ended when Tex Warrington intercepted a Big Green pass on his 10 yard line.

A few plays later Jim Hickey uncorked a punt which traveled 71 yards on the fly. The wind was with him, but considering the fact that the ball was fast becoming waterlogged, it was an amazing feat.

William and Mary played typical Voyles football—the hard-hitting, quick-charging, good kicking brand. Only one pass was attempted and it was completed for 10 yards and a first down. The rest was straight power. The Indians were always watching for a break and when it came they were quick to take advantage of it.

For the Indians Johnson bore the brunt of the running attack and for Dartmouth it was a foregone conclusion that none of the Big Green's toe-dancing backs would do any of their specialties in the mud.

the running. This powerful half-back is a constant threat and will be out to clinch his all-State berth. Also back in form after a let down last season is Muha's running mate, Bosh Pritchard, one of the fastest backs in the state. The "Hopewell Hurricane" is breezing this year and is out to make up for lost time last year. Captain Nelson Catlett will lead his team in his own courageous, if not outstanding, play at half-back. The fourth back field position will be filled by either Bill Ward or Stevens, two hard running backs fighting it out for the starting call. In the line Ducko, Ellington, and Skladany are outstanding this season. Right-end Clark is rapidly developing into one of the most sure-fingered ends in the State. All of those boys as well as their teammates will be out to spoil the Big Green's Homecoming but there are a few Indians to be heard from.

Big Chief Voyles now has on his squad two potential All-Southern Conference first stringers in Harvey "Stud" Johnson and Garrard "Buster" Ramsey. These two boys play a brand of ball that is very seldom equalled and are good prospects for their well-deserved honor which, in all sense of justice should be forthcoming. While these two will make it very tough on V.M.I., the great play of Harold "Pappy" Fields which reached its climax against Dartmouth can not be overlooked. Fields plays a steady, brilliant brand of ball and he is beginning to feel at home in his newly acquired tackle position. He's one of the boys to watch on that field next Saturday. It should be a great battle of kickers when Jackie Freeman and Jim Hickey tangle with Bosh Pritchard. All of these boys have done excellent kicking this season and each will be out to outshine the others. Tex Warrington is becoming the outstanding center in the state with his uncanny ability to dope out plays and then getting there to stop them. Coupled with these standouts will be the entire star-studded squad which will be out to stop this highly touted V.M.I. backfield just as they stopped Dudley & Co., of Virginia last Homecoming. With a spirit like that, the outcome should be very pleasing to the players, students, fans and old grads alike. The big Indians rode that "Victory Special" to Dartmouth and it will take more than a few future second lieutenants to make them get off.

S.D.D. Survey Recommends Student Guides Pass Increased Soldier Pay

Believing that an increase in pay for soldiers would greatly bolster army morale, members of the Student Defenders of Democracy last week buttonholed 268 soldiers from 39 different camps and found that 87.5 of those queried think that draftees need an immediate wage increase. Of those interviewed, 86.2 percent feel that the base pay, which is now $21 a month, should be raised to at least $30; 60.5 percent want it raised to at least $35; and 42.2 percent want it raised to at least $40. Only 13.8 percent thought that $21 was sufficient.

Other SDD members went to Washington recently to talk with legislators about the possibility of increasing draftees' pay. They visited Senator Murray of Montana, member of the Military Affairs Committee, who said that he was in favor of an increase and was investigating Senate bills which would raise the army pay. Congressman O'Toole of New York promised to suggest in the House that a rider be put on the next appropriations bill in order to provide funds for such an increase.

In a release from their national office, the SDD declared: "The poor morale of our soldiers is a problem crying for the immediate attention of every sincere American who is concerned about the safety of our country and its way of life. It is futile to overwork our industries in an attempt to fill our arsenals with defense materials and to pass legislation extending the length of the draftees' period of training if these men do not have the zeal to serve their country, if they resent being in the army, if they feel they are making all the sacrifices while the rest of the country divides the profits of a war boom."

"The members of our organization, therefore, feel that by giving these men the compensation which they deserve, we can show them that we respect and honor them and that we are relying upon them to insure the existence of our democratic way of life. We urge everyone in the nation to call upon the members of Congress to immediately pass legislation which will increase the pay which these men receive. It is the least we can do when we consider that these men may have to give up their lives to preserve a way of life for us."

Student Guides Pass Intensive Training

Seven student guides for the Wren Building having taken a training course and having passed their examination are operating on a regular schedule from 9 to 5 every day in the week, Saturdays included. It is their function to guide all visitors through the Wren Building, to give them a detailed description of the history of the college, and to explain its present-day organization. For doing this they serve the important function of representing the college to the large number of visitors from all parts of the country and from over seas who come to see the sights of Williamsburg.

The seven men who make the corps of guides are: F. Howard Eike, Francis J. Britcher, Philip M. Whitehead, Carey Modlin, Walter Devany, Benny Forney, and Bill Heffner. The head guide for 1941-42 is F. H. Eike.

Since the beginning of this school year the men have been given an intensive course in the history of William and Mary, of Williamsburg and this section of Virginia. They have listened to lectures on the college by Mr. Robert Hunt Land of the library staff and on the restoration of the Wren Building by Mr. E. A. Kendrew and Mr. S. P. Moorehead of the Restoration's architectural department. They have been taken on a detailed three-day tour of all the buildings of Colonial Williamsburg and have had a full course of reading to follow. The guides operate under the supervision of the Director of Public Relations.

Restoration News

Construction work of the Restoration at the present time is at a low ebb because of the defense work and shortage of labor, but it can boast of several structures that were completed this summer.

These are Burdette's Ordinary, the Red Lion Inn, Scrivener's House and the Taliferro-Cole House. An addition to the Lodge has also been started.

Restoration workers are now busy with the Waters-Coleman House and a new office to take the place of the one that fell into the tunnel. After January, work probably will be slowed up more than ever, but the present construction work will in all probability be finished.

Dean Hocutt Asks That Students Conserve Heat

Increased cost of coal will raise the heat bill for the college this year $10,000, Dean Hocutt announced. He asked the students to cooperate in conserving heat by turning off radiators when they are not in use. A lot of heat is wasted by raising and lowering the windows to regulate the room temperatures.

Since the school generates its own electricity with coal the students have also been asked to cut off lights when they are not in use. This doesn't mean the students should deprive themselves of heat or light, but they should be frugal with these "luxuries".

There is a double motive in this request: to save money and to cooperate with National Defense Emergency at the same time.

The long dry spell has affected the production of electric power in Virginia. The college has to buy from the Virginia Electric & Power Co. during the night; therefore the less power the college buys, the more there will be to overcome the shortage in the state.

Dean Hocutt is having cards printed which will be placed in the dormitory rooms and classrooms to remind students and faculty to cut off radiators and lights when not in use. The cards will be ready in about 10 days or two weeks.

College Song Book Plan Announced

What are those old songs Dad sings all the time?—The ones he learned at William and Mary in the "good old days"? Find out. They have a chance to come into their own again.

Faculty members or students who know of any old William and Mary songs are asked to submit them to Grayson Clary, student assembly member in charge of the investigation. If enough songs can be found, they will be published in a handbook or incorporated into the Indian Handbook.

"They need not be the serious type of song", Grayson pointed out. "All kinds will be considered."

Standouts on the William and Mary team were Hodgkins at center and Ferguson at fullback. Both boys played heads-up ball from start to finish. Walsh showed spirit at right guard.

Next Friday the Lil' Injuns will trek to Ashland to battle the Randolph-Macon 150 pounders. It is hoped that they can catch the Ashlanders on the rebound to gain their first victory of the season.

be moulded from is of the type that wouldn't win against a schedule of high school teams. But here is the real rub—they are making it mighty uncomfortable for a man who has, and will no doubt continue to do, more for George Washington than any other man. Last season when G. W. entered the Southern Conference it was fairly obvious that the reason for the move was that the Colonials might take off top honors in basketball in an organized league. Now G. W. has not a fair or better than average basketball club, but a really brilliant combination, and the one man responsible for this is no doubt the afore-mentioned Mr. Bill Reinhart. Reinhart is one of the top coaches in the nation at this sport, and is considered by many as the tops. Thus by blindly condemning the football coach the Alumni in this case are liable to wake up some morning and find that to and behold the best basketball coach they will probably ever be able to get is no longer on their payroll. As the Colonials are definitely known for their cage crews, the Alumni up D. C. way had better wise up, or they will find that in order to get rid of a boil on the wrist that they have cut the whole arm off.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Oct. 10, 1941.

Editor of the Flat Hat,
College of W. & M.,
Williamsburg, Va.

Dear Sir:

Below is some advice which my father recently sent me. It is common, ordinary horse sense and worthy of note.

"Get away from the crowd when you can. Keep yourself to yourself, if only for a few hours daily.

"The finest tree stands off by itself in the open plain, its branches spread wide. It is a complete tree, better than the cramped tree in the crowded forest.

"The man who grows up in a herd, deer-like, thinking with the herd, acting with the herd, rarely amounts to anything. Constant craving for indiscriminate company is a sure sign of mental weakness.

"Don't be a sheep or a deer. Don't devote your hours to the company and conversation of those who know as little as you do. Remember that you are an individual, not a blade of grass or a grain of dust. Don't be a sheep, be a man. It has taken nature one hundred million years to produce you. Don't make her sorry she took the time.

"Goethe said: 'Talent is developed in solitude, character in the rush of the world.'

"Drop your street corner, your bookie beating friends. Drop your sheep life and try being a man. 'It may improve you.'

Very truly yours,
"Bob" Conkey.

who, for their own reasons, prefer to wear their linen unstarched: both tastes are legitimate and justifiable.

The college laundry, in spite of every request that one makes, imposes starched linen on everybody. (Even pajamas have been starched stiff.) This is the more improper because some fabrics, of their very nature, should not be starched—e. g., oxford cloth and poplin; and starching such fabrics is not only in very poor taste, for it is efficiently destructive. Many shirts are marked by their makers, as a cautionary measure, "Do not starch."

We know that not all the college laundry is washed at one time. And since, in this matter, the possible tastes are not infinite in number, but comprise only two alternatives (i.e., "starched" or "unstarched"), the practice of the laundry might be accommodated to at least one other taste. So doing would be as convenient for the laundry as it would be desirable to its customers.

Surely, when a shirt, say, has been marked "Do Not Starch," it would not be insupportably tedious for the laundry to recognize this request, and acquiesce.

Very truly yours,
Eli Diamond.

School Spirit Shown at Rally

William and Mary's Indians were sent off Thursday with peppy cheers in order to prove that the school spirit is by no means as the Flat Hat and other college papers have stated. Gathered at the flag pole at noon the students listened to brief speeches by Captain Goodlow, President Bryan and Coach Voyles.

Captain Bill Goodlow's powerful voice rose above "Fight Team, Fight," long enough to congratulate the students on their increase in enthusiasm. This was followed by more cheers led by Malcolm Sullivan and his capable cheerleaders.

Announcer Ben Read presented President Bryan, who emphatically stated, "... and we still train teams better than Dartmouth!" "Our team is not only representing William and Mary, but the entire Southern Conference," stated Coach Voyles.

The students gave a final cheer and sang the Alma Mater as the team left for Hanover.

Sorority History Of W. & M.

In 1918 William and Mary broke 225 years of tradition and became a coeducational college. In these early years of coeducation the desire for sororities was strong, and in 1921, a Miss Mary Collins of Roanoke organized a chapter of Chi Omega as the first national women's fraternity to appear on the William and Mary campus. It didn't take long for the sorority idea to gain favor, and in the two succeeding years chapters of Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma were established.

Between the years 1925 and 1928, there seemed to be a mass movement in the Greek letter world, for within that period Pi Beta Phi, Phi Mu, Alpha Chi

Musical Society Offers Services To W.&M. Campus

Lambda Phi Sigma, the honorary musical club at William and Mary, was originated by Professor Small who was Professor of Music here in the fall of 1936. Mr. Small, with the help of Beverley Bridge, a student here, organized the club, and sent invitations to eight students whom they thought would like to become members. Dean Grace Warren Landrum and Dr. Lionel H. Laing were invited to become honorary members of the Association.

The first student members of this organization were: Marjory Sparrow, Janet Williams, Gertrude Taylor, Seymour Waxman, Katherine Smith, Kendall Beavers, Robert Marks, and Art Breunson. The next year, in 1937, Dr. Laing and Virginia Gilbert revised the constitution which was then accepted by the group. Also, that spring, the organization, which had been known up to this time, as The Honorary Music Club, decided to adopt the name "Lambda Phi Sigma," the name which they are called today.

Ever since its organization, Lambda Phi Sigma has taken an active part in the affairs of the music department. When the College had the Sunday afternoon musicals, the members of Lambda Phi Sigma were the ushers and served at these occasions. Another function at which the members took part was at the concert the Harvard Orchestra presented here two years ago when Lambda Phi Sigma were ushers. Lambda Phi Sigma, as an organization, sponsors the trips to Richmond to the various concerts and operas which are presented as part of the Celebrity Series at the Mosque. This was done last year and is included in the plans for this year. The members of Lambda Phi Sigma have offered their services to the Backdrop Club to help in orchestrating the music for the Varsity Show.

The aims of the fraternity are simply to promote musical events and music itself on the campus of William and Mary.

The members of Lambda Phi Sigma are chosen on a two-fold basis: namely, their own musical ability and talent, and how they have used this talent to help the College through the various musical organizations here on campus. The present members of Lambda Phi Sigma are: President, Jack Feasters; vice-president, Margaret Eaton; secretary-treasurer, Jane Rile; reporter, Betsey Douglass; Bob Lauver; Dick Mears; Dick Thomas, and Darryl Watson. The new members who have just been bid and will soon be initiated are: Virginia Doepke, George Heier, Anna Zepth, and Mildred Lyons.

Mr. Douse is the faculty advisor for Lambda Phi Sigma. Lambda Phi Sigma is looking forward to a successful year this year because there are many wonderful concerts in Richmond to which the organization will sponsor trips, and here on campus there will be many musical events.

Omega, Kappa Delta, and Delta Delta Delta received their charters, after having operated as local sororities for a short time.

Sorority Court was completed in April, 1931, and in 1933 Gamma Phi Beta was installed as the final national organization to appear on the campus of the College of William and Mary.

W.-M. Marching Band To Play Important Role at Homecoming

William and Mary's forty-two piece marching band will play an important role in the Homecoming festivities. The band has been devoting six to ten hours a week preparing for the pep rally, parade, and formations to be executed at the half.

Freshmen will assemble in front of Phi Beta Kappa Hall and march into the stadium behind the band, the Indians, and Wampoo. Before the game the band will play "The Star Spangled Banner." During the half the student body will sing "Fight, Fight, Fight for the Indians," while the band spells the letters W I N. The next formation will be a V.M.I. as "The Spirit of V.M.I." is played. Following that they will form a W. M. and play the Alma Mater.

After the game the band will lead the victory parade. Students and alumni are invited to take part.

The band has performed at all games except the Navy, Hampden-Sydney, and Dartmouth games.

Harpsichord Concerts

seats in the Supper Room are available each night to students and Williamsburg residents at the same price, and may also be purchased at the Goodwin Building.

As in the past, this year's program will be specially arranged by Ralph Kirkpatrick, director of the festival series, and in internationally-famous harpsichordist who has just completed a successful series of concerts in Carnegie Chamber Music Hall. Mr. Kirkpatrick will be assisted by Lois Wann, oboe; Frances Blaisdell, flute; and Elias Carman, bassoon. Miss Wann, who has played at previous Palace concerts, is a young California artist who has been soloist with many famous orchestras. Miss Blaisdell, who is making her first appearance in Williamsburg, is considered the foremost American woman flutist, and Mr. Carman, also a newcomer to the Palace concerts, is a bassoonist who has played with leading American and European orchestras.

The woodwinds played an important part in eighteenth-century music, and for the pre-view program Mr. Kirkpatrick has chosen pieces by Handel, Mozart, Matthes, Haydn, and Claude Balbastre, who was Martha Jefferson's music teacher in Paris, and whose pieces for the harpsichord are still to be seen in the Jefferson music library at Monticello. Only music closely identified with eighteenth-century Williamsburg will be played.

In the regular series, the famous Budapest String Quartet will play on Wednesday and Thursday nights, and students wishing to hear them may buy supper room tickets.

WILLIAM AND MARY'S BAND

W. S. G. A. Elects New Officers

At the Women Students Government meeting held Monday, October 20, the new officers were installed. Theo Kelcey installed Sunny Manewal, freshman representative to executive, and Marjorie Lentz, treasurer of executive. Claire Hulcher installed Virginia Kelcey, freshman representative to judicial, and Arlene Daniels, newly-elected house president of the practice house.

After the officers were installed, Miss Wynne-Roberts said a few words. She pointed out the benefits the students receive from the Restoration, and asked that College students be more careful about staying for any length of time in Chowning's, thus preventing other visitors from coming in. She mentioned that Chowning's has been forced to make a ruling forbidding the sale of beer to women students because they must not sell beer to anyone under age, and a few people may not have been quite truthful about their ages. Miss Roberts also explained the new ruling that men from army camps must wear their uniforms when making use of the social privileges accorded them by the College. This ruling has been made to aid in identifying the men with their particular branch of the service. It is also intended as a protection for the students, because the men feel more responsibility for their behavior when they are in uniform. All women students were asked to try to help enforce this regulation.

Miss Roberts reminded the women students to sign out in her office when going away from the College. She asked that they do not telephone for permissions, for it has been found an unsatisfactory way to grant permissions. There will be buses to take students to the G. W. game at Norfolk, she stated.

Theo Kelcey announced that all women students except proctors and freshman orientation sponsors must take the test on regulations. Debbie Davis will head a committee to prepare a float for the W. S. G. in the Homecoming parade.

Pinckney Elected Scribe Of 250 Year Committee

The executive committee of the quarter-millennium celebration of the College of William and Mary held its first meeting on Wednesday, October 15.

Those present at this initial meeting were: President John Stewart Bryan, chairman; Mr. Vernon Geddy, vice-chairman; Mayor Channing M. Hall of Williamsburg; Dr. Norton, head of the History Department; Mr. McCurdy, Secretary of the Alumni Association; Mr. Pinckney, Director of Public Relations; and Dean Cox, of the Jurisprudence Department.

Mr. Thomas Pinckney was elected to the office of secretary of the committee.

Authorization to appoint committees to facilitate plans and preparations for the coming celebrations was given to the President of the College and the director, Dean Cox, by the committee.

Library Staff Attends Dedication and Convention

Members of the library staff of the College of William and Mary attended the formal dedication of the Virginia State Library building on Thursday, October 16. The ceremonies were held in the east reading room. The building was completed last December. It is to hold within its walls a priceless collection of old records, manuscripts, and its collection of books.

The members of the staff remained in Richmond to attend the meetings of the Virginia Library Association on Friday and Saturday. Headquarters of the Association was the Jefferson Hotel. Those attending were: Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Swem, Misses Galphin, Carlson, Lucas, Thompson, Clark, Counts, and Messrs. Land and Jennings.

Mr. Land was elected by the Association as its Council member for the American Library Association during the year 1941-1942.

Miss Beverly Ruffin, an alumna of the College of William and Mary, and formerly a member of the library staff, presided at the group meeting of the County and Rural Librarian's Session. Since accepting the position of public librarian of Nottaway County, Miss Ruffin has entered wholeheartedly into the library service of the community.

At the evening session, Mr. Thomas Pinckney, Director of Public Relations here at the College, discussed "Books As Implements of War."

Student Opinion Surveys, a non-profit organization, with headquarters at the University of Texas, is a cooperative of 150 college newspapers, including The FLAT HAT, that exchange local opinions for the national tabulations. Each poll is mathematically controlled as to sex, upper and lower classmen, working and non-working students, and geographical distribution in proportion to U. S. Office of Education enrollment statistics.

Since 1939 the Surveys has charted the campus trend of opinion on the question, "Do you think the U. S. can stay out of the war?" In each of the four polls taken optimism diminished:

Believing we can stay out:
December 1939 68%

true Southern garden atmosphere. A unique system of lighting will be employed by which the windows of the mansion will throw light on the floor. The plantation fronts are going to be accentuated by spot lights, while the railing and windows of the gym will be blacked out. Music for both dances will be furnished by Freddy Johnson's orchestra. Tickets may be purchased from any of the President's Aides.

Alumni will begin to register at 8:30 Saturday morning in the Alumni Office. Then at 10 o'clock the annual float parade will form on the Jamestown Road. This parade will include not only floats, but also the College band and the Braxton-Perkins Drum and Bugle Corps from Newport News. All the sororities, fraternities, College clubs, and some civic organizations are entering floats. The four best floats will be picked by three faculty members, Miss Grace Blank, Dr. R. C. Young, and Dr. Lionel Laing, and two citizens of Williamsburg, Mrs. Winder Lane, Jr., and Lloyd H. Williams.

At the game the winners will be announced, who will receive $40, $30, $20, and $10, respectively. The parade will proceed at 10:30 down the Duke of Gloucester Street, which is to be lined with W. and M. flags. As it passes the Court House it will be reviewed by President Bryan, Deans of the College, Alumni officials, and the judges of the floats. Mr. Bryan and Mr. B. D. Peachy will journey to the reviewing stand in the barouche that is used just one year at Homecoming.

At 12:30 alumni and friends will picnic at Lake Matoaka. At this time, Yel Kent, steward, will serve his annual Brunswick stew. Tickets, which are 50c to members of the Alumni Association and 75c to all others, may be purchased at the Alumni office.

At 2:30 the team that beat Dartmouth will oppose V. M. I. at Cary Field. Mimeographed cheers will be given to a crowd estimated to be 10,000. Freshmen will be required to sit in one section.

The gala Homecoming festivities will close Saturday night with an informal dance to be given again in Blow.

Gene Raymond and Jeanette MacDonald teamed for the first time in the new Technicolor version of "Smilin' Through" with Brian Aherne co-starred. Playing on Monday and Tuesday, November 9-10 at the Williamsburg Theatre.

Class Notes

Junior Class

The first meeting of the Junior Class was held September 25, the night of the Pep Rally for the Navy game. Paul Couch, vice-president, was in charge of the meeting because the prexy, Scotty Cunningham, is one of Coach Voyles' boys and was much in demand at the time over at Phi Beta.

It was decided to hold a Junior Frolic in January or February with an out-of-town orchestra. The class also decided not to enter a float in the Homecoming Parade.

Senior Class

The Senior Class hopes to have an informal novelty dance some time this semester, it was announced by Malcolm Sullivan, the newly elected president.

Since the initial meeting of the class has not yet been held, plans for the dance are still indefinite.

Retirement Bill Hearing Due Soon

Dr. Warner Moss, Professor of Government, is a member of the State Personnel and Retirement Committee of the Advisory Legislative Committee.

In the past there has been no adequate retirement system for the teachers in the state of Virginia. The need for such a system as this has been realized, but as yet no bill of retirement has been prepared.

The State Personnel and Retirement Committee is engaged in the drafting of a bill, the provisions of which have not been completed, and consequently are not ready for publication; but in view of all the discussion of the retirement, up to this point, it is reasonable to expect that such a bill will provide for a state fund and an employee's fund from which annuities will be paid to aged employees.

A public hearing of the committee is to be held on November 6 and November 7.
